

Expert list for AMAP deliveries for the Arctic Council ministerial meeting

Arctic Ocean Acidification Assessment

Assessment lead, chemistry and geo-chemistry: Richard Bellerby, Norwegian Institute for Water Research (NIVA); email: Richard.Bellerby@niva.no, phone: +47 90899256

Biological responses: Laura Falkenberg (email: laura.falkenberg@outlook.com)

Cases:

- Urchin harvesting and kelp regrowth in northern Norway under ocean acidification and warming: Phil Wallhead, Norwegian Institute for Water Research (NIVA) (email: philip.wallhead@niva.no) and Wenting Chen, Norwegian Institute for Water Research (NIVA) (email: wenting.chen@niva.no)
- Ocean services for the Barents Sea – socio-economic effects of ocean warming and acidification on the Northeast Arctic cod fishery: Martin C. Hänsel, Potsdam Institute for Climate Impact Research, Germany; email: haensel@pik-potsdam.de
- The Greenland shrimp (Pandalus borealis) fishery: Brooks A. Kaiser, University of Southern Denmark (email: baka@sam.sdu.dk) and Kumiko Azetsu-Scott, Fisheries and Oceans, Canada (email: kumiko.azetsu-scott@dfo-mpo.gc.ca)
- Ocean acidification risk assessment for Alaska's fishery sector: Jeremy Mathis, The National Academies of Sciences, Engineering and Sciences (email: jmathis@nas.edu, phone +1 202 334 3394)
- Changing ocean impacts on the key forage fish species Arctic cod in the Western Canadian Arctic - Linking climate model projections to subsistence fisheries: Nadja S. Steiner, Fisheries and Oceans, Canada (email: nadja.steiner@canada.ca)

Biological Effects of Contaminants on Arctic Wildlife & Fish

Robert Letcher (Environment and Climate Change, Canada); e-mail: robert.letcher@canada.ca; phone (work): +1 613 998 6696

Rune Dietz (Aarhus University, Denmark); e-mail: rdi@bios.au.dk; phone (mobile): +45 21 25 40 35
